Program Components

Educational Programs

On-site training in hearing aid technology, research, and career-readiness skills — taught by working WSA audiologists alongside your faculty.

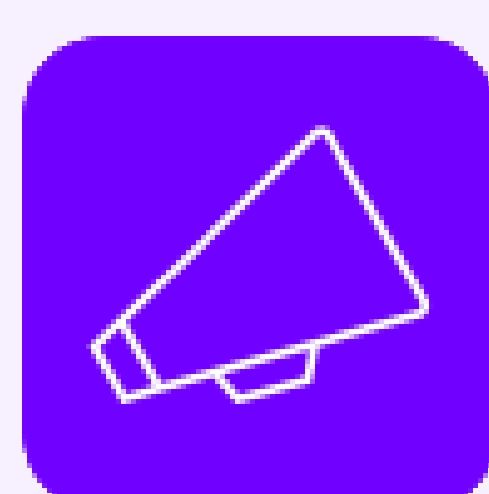

Mentorship

Every student gets a dedicated WSA audiologist mentor, matched to their goals and supporting their transition from student to professional.

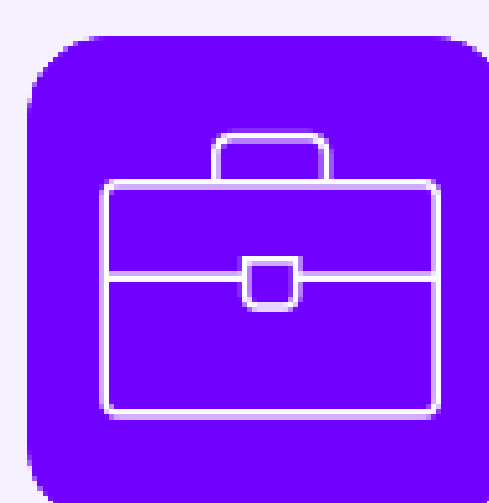

Partnerships

On-site WSA devices and technology for your clinics, plus grants and support for student research, including poster sessions.

Outreach

Dedicated events, communications, and program updates keep students and faculty connected.

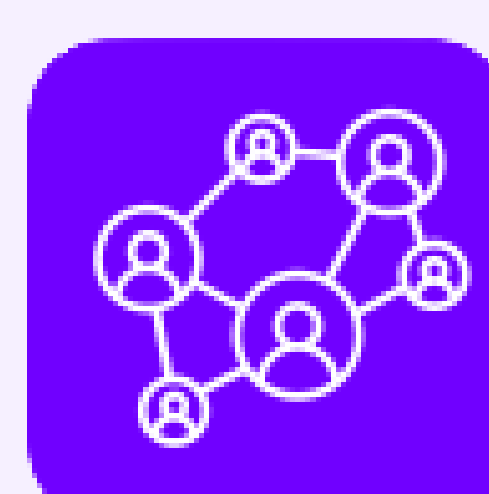

Workforce Training

Paid externships through our partner network give students real clinical hours and job-ready experience before graduation.

Engagement

Graduates stay connected to WSA and fellow alumni, with ongoing access to the broader network.

Relationship-Building

Graduates get connected to job opportunities that match their desired setting and location.

Scholarships

Scholarships ease the cost of completing a degree for students who show strong potential and commitment.
